Trekking around Curavacas Mountain

Yesterday, a group of INTRAS' learners (Valladolid) went to the Curavacas Mountain, in the north of Palencia, around 190 km from Valladolid.

Today, as they returned to classes, we noticed that they were very tired because it is quite far from here. The mountain was a very uneven piece of land so some of the hikers started to feel sick. Fortunately, everything was right and participants took excellent photos from this fantastic experience.
